LOT 1463

A cut glass table oil lamp, early 20th century, the cut glass globular reservoir above a hexagonal tapering stem on a faceted knob and circular petal rim base, height 66cm (converted for electricity, faults).

Estimate: £40 - £60

Condition Report

1463. The base is in good condition overall but is missing a collar/section which would fit over the metal end which supports the oil reservoir, a break is visible here. The reservoir therefore has nothing to hold it in position on the base and has a rough break to its underneath with remains of old plaster where the original fixing/fitting would have been. Otherwise the reservoir is in good order. The metal fittings at the top of the oil reservoir are compressed out of shape.
