

LOT 1179

A Japanese lacquer cabinet, Edo period, on a later ebonized and gilt stand, the cabinet with engraved copper mounts, lock plate and drop handles, the pair of hinged doors, top and sides decorated with gilt flowers on a dark brown/black ground, the similarly decorated interior fitted with an arrangement of ten drawers, width 94.5cm, depth 52cm, height 81cm, the stand with block legs, total height 168cm (minor faults).

Estimate: £3,000 - £4,000

Condition Report

1179. Overall generally good condition. No significant damage or repairs. Some typical splits to panels but nothing too significant. Lacquering and colour is good. Horizontal splits to back panel. Typical light surface wear and scratches with possibly some minor re-touching in places. Copper mounts all present and in generally good order. A couple of copper corner mounts have lost a pin and central front mount at the base has misshapen slightly and catches on the door when opening. We have keys for door and inner drawer but probably not the original keys. Stand is later and in generally good order.