

Silver and Plate / Wednesday, 13th June 2018 / Lot 310

LOT 310

A Victorian silver novelty propelling pencil, circa 1880, in the form of a grenade with flame finial, bearing registration lozenge for 1880 by Sampson Mordan & Co, extended length 6cm, together with a set of S. Mordan & Co lead refills in a card case.

Estimate: £50 - £80

Condition Report

310. Overall good condition. Typical light surface wear and scratches. Minor denting to nozzle end, but nothing significant. Good clear lettering to shaft. Both propelling actions seem to be in working order, but does not have lead in it and the refills appear to be a slightly bigger size.
