LOT 1248

A Japanese brown patinated bronze elephant figure group by Genryusai Seiya, Meiji period, modelled as an elephant under attack from two tigers, cast signature seal mark to underside, height 19cm (tusks replaced).

Estimate: £100 - £150

Condition Report

1248. Both tusks are later replacements and look like they are stained bone, but definitely not ivory. Otherwise generally in good condition with no significant damage or repairs. Good patina but would benefit from a clean as it is a bit dusty. Typical minor wear and scratches to patina but nothing of any real consequence.
