LOT 4096

A set of eight rare Chinese Canton decorated export porcelain plates, early 19th century, each painted with mythical animals or sea creatures, framed by a triple border of roses, fruiting grapevine and blue lines, embellished in gilt, each plate indistinctly gilt monogrammed, diameter 24.5cm (all with rim damage). Note: this complicated design was possibly commissioned through the East India Company in London with the aid of its pattern books, possibly for an officer in the Company trading to China.

Estimate: £100 - £200
