LOT 4175

A Continental porcelain animal group, possibly Italian, early 19th century, modelled as a bear attacking a bison, raised on a naturalistic base, incised 'P' to base, height 16cm (minor faults).

Estimate: £200 - £400

Condition Report

4175. Approx 5.5cm long filled manufacturers firing crack to front edge of base and two much smaller similar firing cracks to edge of base. Cows right horn missing with signs of old restoration. Cows left horn detached but available with the lot. Very minor glaze bruise to tip of cows left nostril. Due to the nature of its construction during manufacture the group does not sit flat.
