LOT 1140

An early Victorian oak bracket clock with eight day twin fusee movement striking on a bell, the circular brass dial with black Roman numerals and inscribed 'De la Salle & Christie Cannon Street London', the case with stepped surmount above pierced fret panels and plinth base, height 35.5cm, with pendulum. Note: James Thomas de la Salle and William Christie were in partnership between 1825 and 1845, trading from their Cannon Street premises.

Estimate: £400 - £600

Condition Report

1140. Generally good condition. Case has some minor condition issues, including some of the mouldings to top being re-glued and not sitting perfectly straight, small chip to wood on back left corner, small strip of moulding missing to left hand side of case, some feet replaced. Dial is ok but dirty. The movement winds smoothly but only runs for a short period of time, the strike mechanism works well. Brass pendulum has a lead repair to its shaft.
