LOT 1808

A 19th century Fijian carved hardwood totokia (battlehammer), South Seas, the curved shaft with a carved pineapple head finial with pointed beak, length 93.5cm, together with another South Seas club with naturally formed triple pointed head, length 66cm (faults and repairs).

Estimate: £600 - £1,000

Condition Report

1808. The triple handed club has a repaired section to the head where one of the pointed sections has come away from the body.

The totokia has several points to the pineapple chipped off and some minor surface cracks. Otherwise both pieces have a good original deep brown patina and with minor scuffs and surface marks.
