

British and Continental Ceramics / Thursday, 18th April 2019 / Lot 1404

LOT 1404

A Russian Lomonosov porcelain jug, mid-20th century, designed by Natalie Danko as the head of a girl wearing a polychrome and gilt enriched kokoshnik headdress, indistinct mark to base, height 14cm.

Estimate: £40 - £60

Condition Report

1404. Two areas of deliberate scratches to base underside, factory mark only visible when held in the right light, otherwise in good condition with no cracks, chips or repairs. No wear to enamels or gilding.

Created: Thu, 11th April 2019 14:04