

Tribal Art / Thursday, 20th June 2019 / Lot 1814

LOT 1814

A Papua New Guinea carved wooden kundu drum, early 20th century, the lizard skin covered top above a typically shaped body, carved in relief with stylized facial features, length 69cm. Provenance: purportedly from the collection of Count Werner D. Schack (1922-2004).

Estimate: £200 - £300

Condition Report

1814. The end that has the skin fitted has a few quite long cracks running from the rim, otherwise no signs of glue or restoration.

Created: Mon, 17th June 2019 11:11