

Art Pottery / Fri, 13th September 2019 / Lot 4158

LOT 4158

A Keller & Guerin Luneville gilt metal mounted lustre pottery vase, circa 1900, the bulbous body decorated with poppies against a shaded ground, the mounts formed as four intricately detailed poppy plants rising from a circular foot, impressed and lustre painted marks to base, height 9cm (missing small section of one poppy mount).

Estimate: £100 - £150

Condition Report

4158. Due to the loose gilt metal mount that the vase rotates within, there are some minor surface scratches to the pottery. Also there are two seed heads missing to the top of one of the flowerheads.

Created: Sat, 7th September 2019 11:31