

Prints, Maps and Posters / Wed, 6th November 2019 / Lot 60

LOT 60

David Hockney - 'An Exhibition of Costume Drawings and Set Designs Ashmolean Museum Oxford' (Poster for the Exhibition), colour lithograph, published by the Petersburg Press circa 1981, 75cm x 95cm, within a painted frame.

Estimate: £50 - £80

Condition Report

60. Tear to the left hand margin entering into the printed image. Torn with marginal loss to the bottom left corner. Numerous pin holes throughout, one of which has a small tear emanating from it about 3cm above the 'e' of Ashmolean. Some foxing throughout. Area of surface abrasion with loss of ink below the 'D' of David. Previously rolled and with associated creasing and undulations to paper. Unexamined out of frame, but undulations suggest it has not been laid down. Frame with scuffs to extremities.

Created: Thu, 31st October 2019 12:30