LOT 2001

A late 19th century Venetian ebonized and carved softwood blackamoor visiting card stand, the circular top above a finely carved acrobatic figure standing on his hands upon a rectangular cushion, wearing striped shirt and shorts, inset with bone teeth, the underside with 'M.W. Edgley General Furnisher' label, height 80cm.

Estimate: £200 - £400

Condition Report

2001. Overall there is fairly typical surface wear with some loss to the ebonized finish, particularly to the high points and top of dish. There is some surface damage to the two rear corners of the cushion caused by some light woodworm and there is also some light woodworm to the rest of the base.
