

Fine British and Continental Ceramics / Thursday, 19th March 2020 / Lot 1439

LOT 1439

A Wedgwood pottery cream cooler and cover, circa 1825, the off-white glazed body of U-shape, flanked by loop handles on a spreading circular foot, inscribed in gilded block capitals 'CREAM', the cover with central necked aperture, impressed uppercase mark to foot, height 25cm. Note: a whole plethora of wares for dairy use were produced by the Wedgwood factory. A similar shaped example is illustrated by Robin Reilly and George Savage in 'The Dictionary of Wedgwood', p.113. The aperture in the cover would be to accommodate a spoon.

Estimate: £300 - £500

Condition Report

1439. Typical overall crazing to glaze - primarily seen on cover which has indistinct small hairline amidst crazing to its edge. Otherwise in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

Created: Mon, 9th March 2020 15:19