

British and Continental Ceramics / Thu, 19th November 2020 / Lot 1310

LOT 1310

A Dutch Delft charger, 18th century, painted in blue with a central circular panel of a putti surrounded by flowers and foliage, within a ground of scrollwork and leaves, blue painted De 3 Vergulde Astonnekens mark to base, diameter 34.5cm (minor chips).

Estimate: £100 - £150

---

Condition Report

There are two large and a number of smaller chips to the footrim. The whole circumference of the rim has chips and fritting.

There are typical light surface scratches commensurate with age and use.

No cracks or restoration.

Please see the extra images on our website using the zoom function.

Created: Tue, 17th November 2020 10:51