LOT 1042

A pair of Chinese armorial porcelain circular bowls, Jiaqing period, each salmon/apricot ground exterior filled with four polychrome dragons and vapours above waves and rocks, all framing a crest of a bull's head, diameter 11cm, height 5.2cm. Note: the bull's head crest appears to be that of the Radcliff family, which is illustrated and discussed on page 789 of 'Chinese Armorial Porcelain' by David Sanctuary Howard.

Estimate: £150 - £250

Condition Report

Both bowls in good condition overall, no chips, cracks or restoration. Typical light surface scratches and wear to gilt and enamels.
