LOT 1200

A 19th century lacquered brass telescope by Dollond of London, the 109cm painted wooden body tube with rack and pinion focusing, on a folding tripod stand, within original fitted mahogany case, length 114cm.

Estimate: £150 - £250

Condition Report

1200. Fairly good condition. Lacquering to brass is worn. Typical scuffs, scratches and nicks to paintwork on wood tube commensurate with age. No splits or significant damage. Small chip to edge of large lens. Tripod in working order, dent to columns and wear to lacquer. Case with splits, but ok. Other eyepieces with some minor scratches visible under magnification.
