LOT 1555

A pair of Martin Brothers stoneware vases, dated February 1892, the high-shouldered bodies incised and painted with insects amidst white lily flowers, the gently flared cylindrical necks decorated with insects, incised marks to bases, height 24cm.

Estimate: £800 - £1,200

Condition Report

1555. Both vases are in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

One has an approx 3.5cm long firing crack to the base underside through the incised mark - please see the extra images on our website using the zoom function. The other vase has some minor fritting to the top rim edge of the neck, a manufacturing issue.
