

British and Continental Ceramics / Thu, 25th November 2021 / Lot 1294

LOT 1294

A Staffordshire pearlware figure of Cleopatra or Ariadne, 19th century, modelled as a reclining figure with a snake coiled around her arm, raised on a pseudo marble rectangular base, length 29cm.

Estimate: £250 - £350

---

Condition Report

1294. A few chips to the base, the largest approx 2cm in size. Some overpainting to the blue below her arms. The snake is missing its head. Some general scratching, scuffs and rubbing to other high points, particularly on elbow, nose and feet, some resulting in glaze losses. On the interior there is a crack running below her tights, not visible on the exterior. A few firing cracks on the interior as well.

Created: Mon, 22nd November 2021 15:08