LOT 1319

A mid to late 19th century French bronzed spelter mantel clock with eight day movement striking on a bell via an outside countwheel, the enamelled dial with flower festoons and Arabic hour numerals, the case modelled as three cherubs riding a two-dove drawn carriage, on an oval marble base, height 33.5cm, with pendulum (faults).

Estimate: £150 - £250

Condition Report

1319. Winds smoothly and starts to run but does not run for very long, perhaps a minute or two. Couple of small repairs to the figure, including one cherub wing repaired and general wear.
