LOT 1811

A pair of clear cut glass lustres, 19th century, the baluster stems raised on square bases, the gilt metal mounts supporting a scalloped flower shaped drip trays hung with seven pendant drops, the screw in glass nozzles with raised rims, both fitted with a brass nozzle, height 27cm.

Estimate: £300 - £500

Condition Report

Both lustres are in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration. The brass nozzles are unlikely to be original.

One of the square bases has a minor blemish/ flaw to the side edge.

Both of the square bases have rounded corners which I would suggest are later polishing.
