LOT 2567

A late 19th century mahogany twenty-one button concertina, probably by Lachenal & Co, each pierced fretwork end with a leather strap handle (faults).

Estimate: £50 - £80

Condition Report

2567. The bellows are no split or torn and the instrument moves freely when pushed/pulled. Fairly heavy areas of wear at each end, especially around the screw holes. Several small losses to the pierced fretwork. Lacking part of one strap. Fairly heavy age related wear. Well used.
