LOT 2652

A 19th century rosewood concertina by Charles Wheatstone of London, the two pierced ends with forty-eight silver plated buttons (fault to bellows), cased, together with a late 19th century concertina by David Hyam & Co, cased.

Estimate: £100 - £200

Condition Report

2652. The Wheatstone has a large tear in the bellows, also some cracks to one end of the concertina. Two buttons have ends worn off and loss to the leather thumbpiece. The Hyam is a reasonable condition and is probably playable.
