LOT 2806

A late 18th/early 19th century silkwork and chenille panel, finely worked with a lady holding rosary beads, standing before a tomb, 17cm x 23cm, within a gilt composition frame, together with another early 19th century silkwork panel of a lady, 35.5cm x 27.5cm.

Estimate: £70 - £100

Condition Report

2806. The needleworks both have some minor browning and some spots of foxing, but generally are in good order. The smaller panel still retains good colour, but the larger has lost some colour.
