Condition Report

There is some minor damage to individual links on both sides of the clasp, particularly to the side which has the tongue of the clasp.

One link on the underside designed to hold the two horizontal multiple rows together has broken (there are several of these links along the piece), this has resulted in a section becoming slightly loose, with more freedom of movement. Not detrimental to the piece.

The clasp is in working order.

The piece has Italian marks, suggested age 1960s-80s.
