LOT 1545

A Worcester blue painted Fisherman and Billboard Island press moulded sauceboat, circa 1760, with strap moulded sides and moulded cartouches, blue painted open crescent mark to base, length 20cm (restored), together with a similarly painted sauceboat with foliate moulded cartouches, length 19cm, and two other sauceboats.

Estimate: £70 - £100

Condition Report

Fisherman and Billboard - vertical crack to one side of sauceboat running from rim through middle of panel on one side, involving some repainting to the base interior decoration.

Similar shaped sauceboat - in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration, some typical surface scratches.

Floral moulded sauceboat - 2.5cm long vertical crack to top rim edge on one side which is lightly stained and a similar smaller by the spout. There is a minuscule nick to the top rim edge and a similar smaller to the edge of the handle. The decoration is blurred.

Other sauceboat - 1cm long nibbled chip to top rim edge, otherwise in good condition.
