LOT 691

A gold, silver and rose cut diamond brooch, 19th century, probably Asian, later converted, in a pierced foliate and floral design, unmarked, weight 15.4g, width 5.2cm.

Estimate: £100 - £150

Condition Report

We have not tested this piece for gold/silver.

The brooch fitting is a later addition and may be gilt metal.

There are a number of solder repairs evident from the back of the piece, particularly to one end. Please view images.

All stones are present and appear secure in their settings. One diamond is badly chipped.
