LOT 1546

A pottery planter, probably early 20th century, modelled as the head of an Eastern man wearing an ochre glazed turban, unmarked, height 28cm.

Estimate: £30 - £50

Condition Report

The glazed turban is crazed.

There is a noticeable hairline crack running across the base underside - please see image 4 on our website - it encroaches into the neck and chin of the head, it would seem to be pretty superficial but it is obviously quite visible to the underside. There are a couple of tiny nicks to the base edge where it is finished unevenly. Otherwise in good order.
