LOT 2504

After the antique - a pair of early 20th century Continental gilt bronze stands, each circular top raised on satyr supports and triform bases, height 19.5cm. Note: this design was originally from a brazier excavated from the sacrarium of the House of Julia Felix, Pompeii, now in the Naples Archaeological Museum.

Estimate: £100 - £200

Condition Report

2504. Some surface verdigris and a few minor casting cracks to joints. One of the three figures on both models does have a slight lean, but appears to be in the casting.
