

British and Continental Ceramics / Thursday, 30th May 2024 / Lot 1664

LOT 1664

A Dixon & Co. Sunderland lustre pottery jug, circa 1830, of typical Dutch shape, printed and coloured with a ship in full sail, titled 'Northumberland 74', opposing verse, a figure of Hope leaning on an anchor beneath the spout, all within pink lustre squiggles and bands, printed mark beneath image of ship, height 17.5cm.

Estimate: £50 - £80

---

Condition Report

In good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

There are some typical light surface wear/scratches, nothing untoward, purely commensurate with age and handling.

There is some minor staining to the foot, primarily visible to the underside.

Created: Tue, 28th May 2024 11:30