

British and Continental Ceramics / Thursday, 30th May 2024 / Lot 1582

LOT 1582

A Royal Worcester reticulated jug, dated 1875, the double-walled body pierced with a honeycomb design heightened with gilt dots at each intersection, reserved with red enamelled panels and flanked by a pair of floral painted panels, the neck glazed in pale pink detailed with a gilt zig-zag heightened with white and turquoise 'jewels', the bamboo-form handle glazed in pale pink, puce printed mark to base, height 10cm (two tiny nicks to footrim).

Estimate: £80 - £120

Condition Report

Tiny chip and a couple of small nicks to outer edge of foot.

One of the gilt chevrons to the neck is missing two turquoise 'jewels'.

A few minor and indistinct firing cracks amidst the piercing, only noticeable on very close inspection.

Created: Wed, 29th May 2024 08:59