LOT 141

Lilian Strang Neilson - Crescent Moon over the Watchie, Catterline, 20th century oil on board, 37.5cm x 41.5cm, within a stained wood frame. Note: Lilian Strang Neilson was a distinguished Scottish artist known for her evocative works capturing the rural and coastal landscapes of her native Scotland. Born in Kirkcaldy in 1938, she went on to study at the Duncan of Jordanstone College of Art from 1956-60 where her tutors included Hugh Crawford and Alberto Morrocco. She attended summer school at Hospitalfield House where she met and became friends with Joan Eardley. After a travelling scholarship to France and Italy, Lilian moved to the Scottish coastal village of Catterline sharing a studio with Joan Eardley and Annette Stephen. The three artists worked closely together, capturing the unique landscape, wild seas and ever changing atmospheric conditions of Catterline. Lilian Strang Neilson died in Aberdeen in 1998, leaving behind an enduring legacy as one of Scotland's most important modern painters. Provenance: gifted by the artist to the Late Mrs Elizabeth Rose Joyce Maude Smith in 1997.

Estimate: £1,000 - £2,000

Condition Report

141. In good original condition. The board is missing one corner and rounded on another, but this seems to be original. UV examination does not highlight anything. Minor surface dirt. Backing has minor soiling and is slightly discoloured.
