Condition Report

2215. The cabinet is in generally good order and has a good overall appearance, having had a sympathetic and professional clean and restoration around 30 years ago. The gilt finials, and blocks they sit on, were probably added at that point and there are some overall minor veneer repairs. The feet may well have been replaced, but have been with very good and well-made replacements. The mirror panels have a soft bevel to the edges and overall light distressing, but cannot be absolutely sure whether these are original.
