Condition Report

Compass appears to be in working condition. Some general scratching to the glazing of the compass. The compass does move up and down along its fittings holding it in place, but appears secure. The same can be said for the inner ring, there is movement left to right on its fittings, but again appears secure. The swivel action of the compass and the inner ring both work. Chain - some wear, thinning and breaks to the links, some additional loops employed to hold the chain together/act as a repair.
