

Asian and Islamic Ceramics and Works of Art / Thu, 21st November 2024 / Lot 1054

LOT 1054

A Chinese two-tone agate brushwasher, probably late Qing dynasty, the grey stone body carved in relief with russet blossoming prunus, length 7.8cm, height 3.2cm (minor chips), together with a Chinese two-tone agate pebble snuff bottle and stopper, the grey stone body carved in relief with iron red/russet bat, branch and flowers, length 7.2cm.

Estimate: £100 - £150

Condition Report

1054. Brushwasher - generally good condition with no significant damage or repairs. Some minor chips to flowers on the side.

Snuff bottle - good condition with no significant damage or repairs. Typical light surface scratches and couple of minor nicks to the lower edge of the bat, but not obviously noticeable. Possibly matched cover with no spoon attachment, so is essentially loose.

Created: Fri, 15th November 2024 13:10