LOT 1658

A pair of Derby porcelain figures, late 18th century, modelled as a huntsman with a shotgun and a maiden holding ears of wheat, both on scroll moulded bases picked out in enamels and gilding, height 19cm (faults).

Estimate: £60 - £80

Condition Report

Maiden - fundamentally in good condition but typically missing or with chips to the ears of wheat, and less so to the bocage.

Huntsman - also fundamentally in good condition overall, but missing both index fingers and with small typical chips/losses to the bocage.
