LOT 1085

A Chinese famille verte export porcelain jar and cover, Kangxi period, with 19th century French ormolu table lamp mounts, the ovoid body and domed cover painted with panels of flower baskets, reserved against a green ground filled with dragons and phoenixes, mounted with rococo scroll moulded ormolu handles, trim and base, total height 34cm.

Estimate: £400 - £600

Condition Report

1085. The lamp has not been taken apart so this condition report is from what is visible.

The porcelain appears to be in good condition other than it has drilled holes through top of lid and base. No apparent cracks or repairs. On closer inspection the porcelain may in fact be Kangxi style and 19th century, rather than period.

Metal mounts are a little dirty, but otherwise ok.
